Dramatic play

Opening night:
6 January 2016 Main Stage SNT Drama Ljubljana

Duration:
140 minutes

A short description of the performance:
Anna Karenina is a great love story of world literature, but simultaneously an uncompromising image of a cruel world in which love is defeated by vengefulness and moralising. It is a story about an individual and a society with no room for those who do not comply with the rules. The love colliding with the life of a gentlewoman, the wife and mother Anna Karenina, is too big for the society and its double standards, its rigid laws, its narrow-mindedness and inconsiderateness. The short-lived fulfilment of the forbidden relationship is “punished” by every possible restriction.

A short description of the performance:
The scandal that divided the audience after the 1896 premiere performance of Ubu the King of then merely 23-year-old Alfred Jarry unexpectedly heralded the developments of the 20th and seemingly also the 21st centuries, in the fields of both art and social life. The reckless, greedy, avaricious, but actually cowardly Papa Ubu, incited by his wife, Mama Ubu, a parodied version of Lady Macbeth, to brutally seize power and govern in an even crueler and more totalitarian manner, evokes many allusions. One could even say that every era has its own King Ubu.

Duration:
90 minutes

A short description of the performance:
Two master criminals, Prince Tréfaldi and his associate Travaillac, who have been masquerading as a railroad engineer and his fireman, seize control of a locomotive and resolve to smash it into another train at high speed in order to bring about "God's Judgement," a cataclysm on a cosmic scale, and experience the Mystery of Existence. The tracks cannot take them out of this world into another dimension, but only along a predictable route to known human disaster and into the hands of the authorities (D. Gerould).

A short presentation of the producer:
In 1955 semi-professional Gorica Theatre was established, in 1969 became professional and changed its name to Primorsko dramsko gledališče. In 1994, a new theatre building was built and in 2004 the theatre was declared an institution of national importance and changed its name to Slovene National Theatre Nova Gorica. The theatre’s artistic orientation is influenced by its geographical position on the junction of Slavic and Romance cultures and the programme consists of modern texts and classics.

13th of January 2016, SNG Nova Gorica

Duration:
95 min

A short description of the performance:
In the centre of the play is the self-confident fashion designer Petra von Kant, who lives with her assistant and maid Marlene. Marlene fulfils Petra’s orders without complaining and puts up with all of her insults and caprices. When Petra falls in love with the charming Karin, the latter immediately finds herself at the top of the hierarchically organised trio. Petra wants Karin for herself only, while Karin wants to use the wealthy Petra. A drama of sensitive and at the same time wild characters is directed by one of the best-known French directors, Arthur Nauzyciel.

Second premiere 10. December 2015, SNG Nova Gorica, big stage

Duration:
145 min, 2 intervals

A short description of the performance:
Oton Župančič described Ivan Cankar’s final play as »a poem of longing. Cankar had it in mind ever since the death of poets Dragotin Kette (1899) and Josip Murn (1901), who died in the old Cukrarna (Sugar Factory) building. »An immense morgue,« as Cankar called it, became the set for the play The Beautiful Vida. Cankar’s Beautiful Vida is no longer a wife and a mother who escapes with the Moor in the hope of a better life with the Queen of Spain, but an elusive object of desire. She is a fiancée, a lover and above all a symbol of hope for a life more beautiful, more elevated and more pristine.

A short presentation of the producer:
The Anton Podbevšek Teater (APT) is the youngest professional Slovenian theatre and the first to be established and to operate in the region of Dolenjska and Bela krajina. It is named after Anton Podbevšek, the first Slovenian avant-garde poet and the ‘front man’ of the artistic movement that gave rise to the first Slovenian artistic avant-garde called the Novo mesto spring. The name suggests an active ontological direction taken by the theatre. Within the theatrical field, this direction is a path and an exploration within the realm of modern art and is focused on the exploration of performance, scenery, movement and sound connected to the reflection of ethics in the field of the criticism of everyday life ideology.

A short description of the performance:
Big depths of the ocean are totally unknown to people. What happens in those infinite depths? What creatures live twelve or fifteen miles below the sea level? Captain Nemo, love the sea with all his soul. The sea is everything! It covers seven-tenths of the earthly sphere. Its breath is pure and healthy. The sea is an endless desert where a man is never alone because all around he feels the pulse of life. The sea is a place of beautiful, lush genesis; the sea is motion and love; it is a live infinity. The sea is free; it doesn’t belong to anyone! Only in it is the true freedom!

A short description of the performance:
Performance explores the development of dementia through two perspectives – personal and social. We find the intimate world of an elderly lady, who is slowly losing herself in her memories. Her son is by her side, as she continues to slide further away. Her perception of the world is captured into the interactive video scenography, which responds to her thoughts and movements. Who are you, when you are slowly losing all your memories? We show the patient’s and the caregiver’s spectre of emotions, offer medical background and a possible way to comprehend our loved ones.

A short description of the performance
The reason for the show was a social experiment by Miša Gams who has been performing on streets of Ljubljana by cleaning shoes. She points out the outbreak of precarious forms of work which are now all too common in culture and art. This puts Slovenia at the top of this kind of exploitation in Europe.
A shoe cleaner listens to objects and people existing on the fringe of society.
The Circus of reuse shows us in a humorous way how we can create a utopia today with small miracles, symbolic resistance, reusing everyday trash and with unexpected actions which drive our solidarity and everyday trust.

A short description of the performance:
The story of Ibsen’s drama Peer Gynt (1867) takes place in various very distant places (including Egypt) and depicts the fate of the opportunistic globetrotter Peer Gynt who returns home Norway as an old man after many adventures in order finally to meet with Solveig, who waited faithfully for him her whole life and represents his last chance for redemption. Following the tradition of the neoclassical ballet story-telling, a new ballet creation by an internationally acclaimed Slovenian choreographer Edward Clug will take us to realms of intoxicating self-irony, absurd and surrealism, which are reflected also in enchanting melodies and poetic dreams of Grieg’s incidental and concert music.

Puppet performance

Opening night:
26th April 2012, Ljubljana Puppet Theatre, Large Stage

Duration:
65 min

A short description of the performance:
George Orwell’s novel Animal Farm, which was successfully published by the author after several failed attempts only in August 1945, has been read for quite a long time as a harsh critique of Stalin’s totalitarianism, although its model actually suits any kind of totalitarianism, and even the plutocracy we are witnessing today. So, the questions at hand are: Is a positive utopia possible at all? What is it that we are to offer to our youth as an alternative, if just any system can degenerate into its own version of totalitarianism? Should we offer them a ready made system or is it better to impart values to them and just keep warning them of the possible mistakes? And, if they do recognise the present in the past and learn for the future, will we indeed be hitting the paved road to the better future?

A short presentation of the producer:
The Anton Podbevšek Teater (APT) is the youngest professional Slovenian theatre and the first to be established and to operate in the region of Dolenjska and Bela krajina. It is named after Anton Podbevšek, the first Slovenian avant-garde poet and the 'front man' of the artistic movement that gave rise to the first Slovenian artistic avant-garde called the Novo mesto spring. The name suggests an active ontological direction taken by the theatre. Within the theatrical field, this direction is a path and an exploration within the realm of modern art and is focused on the exploration of performance, scenery, movement and sound connected to the reflection of ethics in the field of the criticism of everyday life ideology.

Opening night:
La Strada Festival Graz (Austria, August 2008)

Duration:
45 min

A short description of the performance:
An interplanetary expedition of immigrants from outer space has landed on our planet. But please, don’t panic! They come in pink...
Every alien character has its own story, its own ways of communicating and challenges the public in a different way.
The INVASION is not a typical theatre show. It is examining questions of multicultural societies and the conventions of behavior in the public space. The audience is invited to become part of the story and join the performers in exploring the border between fiction and reality to establish theater as a game, a ritual and a social event.

Duration:
45 min

The information about the performances is not proofread. It is published as received from the collaborating producers.
A short description of the performance:
A Melancholic croquis proceeds from the melancholy we feel when reading Death in Venice, a work of the great German classic Thomas Mann, and watching its film adaptation by the Italian theatre, opera and film director Luchino Visconti. Both artists and their works share the yearning for beauty and the unattainable, which we all face in one way or another. The performance is a mixture of classic theatre, a social event and a scientific experiment. With the help of cognitive science and contemporary technology, during the performance we simultaneously record the effects of the performance on the emotions of the spectators..
