With the foundation of the Drama Society in Ljubljana in 1867, the Slovenian theatre embarked on the road of professionalization and institutionalisation. In only fifty years, the patriotic society of theatre dilettantes grew into a genuine Slovenian theatre. Today, the Slovenian theatre, called by the author of the first Slovenian book on theatre, Josip Nolli, "the grandest invention of human spirit", is a vibrant and frisky place of open, spirited, creative dialogue and artistic lustre, addresses the future, responding to the present and preserving the past. It is an innovative learning environment offering flexible form of learning for the community and individual. It is a place of freedom, exchange and integration. This Slovenian theatre unites, inspires and builds, conveying a surplus of spirit. The brochure We are theatre comprises information on Slovenian professional theatres – on its public institutions, non-governmental organizations and as well professional associations in the field of Slovenian performing arts. It includes their basic contacts and a brief introduction. We are theatre – get to know us!

WE ARE THE THEATRE

The brochure was published within the project gleda(l)išče – the national cultural education project by Slovenian Theatre Institute, aiming at raising theatrical literacy and creativity of children, youth and professionals, encouraging cross-sectoral creative partnerships and development of general competences in the field of culture. The investment is co-financed by the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Slovenian and the European Union form the European Social Found.

Milestones in the Development of the Drama Society in Ljubljana
The exhibition on the 150th anniversary of the Drama Society in Ljubljana
23rd March 2017–10th January 2018, SLOGI – Theatre Museum, Mestni trg 17, Ljubljana

The Drama Society in Ljubljana (founded in 1867) was the initiator of the Slovenian theatre of modern age – the foundation of the Society was the beginning of the institution and professionalization of Slovenian theatre. In its development from 1867 to 1920 it negotiated a fifty-year long road through the period of institutionalisation and professionalization of the Slovenian theatre, finishing it in 1920 with the advent of a new development stage; i.e., Europeanisation (1920–1945). The exhibition is focused on the first fifty years of the Drama Society’s activity, shedding light on the important and decisive milestones of its development. Before the first milestone there was the general atmosphere in the beginning of the second half of the 19th century among the Slovenian intellectuals, which indicated, that Slovenes needed their own national theatre. This contextual development can be traced back to the dialogue between the father and the son in Trubar’s Abecedarium, the theatre of Jesuits and Capuchins, to Linhart followed by Drabosnjak, and parallel to this the touring Innsbruck comedians, Italian opera singers and 100 years of German theatre tradition in this territory (established in 1765). A great example was set by Anton Tomaž Linhart as the pioneer of the Slovenian theatre of modern era and the early predecessor of the Drama Society. All these elements, together with general theatrical examples, the influences of time (observed in larger nations) and the Spring of Nations (1848) fostered among Slovenes the awareness of the necessity of having a national theatre. The exhibition provides evidence and arguments for twelve significant progressive phenomena in the development of the Drama Society – from the rudimentary origins of the Society during Metternich and Bach absolutism (1848 to 1851) to the formation of the Slovenian theatre as a public institution and the beginning of its Europeanisation (1920).

The illustration material includes manuscripts, portraits of meritorious originators of the Drama Society and the theatre people of the time, theatre reviews, posters and flyers, old photographs and postcards, relevant books of that time, models of two most important theatres, etc. Texts at the exhibition are both in Slovenian and English language.

Dance and Theatre Festivals in Slovenia

Brimming with challenge and the poetics of the senses, the oldest and the most prominent theatre festival in Slovenia has always been the scene of exciting arguments, new insights and unexpected reversals. Since 1996, the year of its debut, its home institution has been the Slovenian National Theatre in Maribor. Its kaleidoscopic history has seen much turmoil and change. Starting as the Week of Slovenian Drama, then transforming into a gathering of Slovenian theatres, it eventually established itself as the national theatre competition. It owes its name - notwithstanding the polemics surrounding it - to Ignacij Borštnik (1858-1919), an actor, a stage director and the founder of modern Slovenian theatre.

52nd Maribor Theatre Festival will take place between 20 and 29 October 2017. The festival is not only national, but has recently evolved into an international event: international symposia, and foreign guests, producers and performances are obvious signs that it is confronting the global theatre scene.

The festival consists of several thematic programs (the competition and accompanying program plus the sections entitled Bridges, AGRFT and Showcase etc.). The selector of the 52nd Maribor Theatre Festival, Petra Vidali, has just recently chosen the competition programme and we will soon see the best performances of the season 2016/17: Leonce and Lena, and The Consultant (Ljubljana City Theatre), The Immaculate/Immaculata, The Birdland and The Cannibals (Drama of the Slovenian National Theatre Maribor), Powerlessness (Imaginarni in coproduction with Mini teater), Shockheaded Peter (Slovenian National Theatre Nova Gorica), The Man Who Watched the World and Hitchcock (Mladinsko Theatre), Antigone and Bible, the First Attempt (Slovenian National Theatre Drama Ljubljana), and The Bedbug (Prešeren Theatre Kranj in coproduction with Ptuj City Theatre).

Awards will be given for the best show, the best stage directing and acting, as well as for musical and other artistic achievements chosen by an international jury of theatre professionals. The most prestigious prize is the Borštnik Ring, awarded by a special jury to a deserving actor for his/her life's work - this year the ring belongs to a very special actress!

Forthcoming summer festivals:

Mini Summer - International Festival for Children 22. 6. 2017–27. 8. 2017

The Mini Summer Festival organized by Mini Teater is an international summer festival of puppets and theatre. It has been taking place since 1999 at the Ljubljana Castle and other locations in Ljubljana every Sunday from the beginning until the end of summer. Its aim is to animate the city's streets, squares, atriums and castle with high-quality puppet performances and children’s workshops. Due to the great response, it has gradually grown into one of the biggest festivals for children in Slovenia. Children’s theatre performances from many different international theatres or groups are presented each year and occasionally, the programme is spiced up with an exceptional puppet performance for adults, such as The Vampire, performed by Stuffed Puppet Theatre from The Netherlands in 2007. Longside the performances, Mini Summer also includes various creative workshops for children (visual arts, multimedia, puppetry and chivalry skills), the Pageants School for young pages and dames, and an exhibition of puppets. Over the years, the festival has gained a great international reputation, receiving positive reviews from the professional public, and an extraordinary high number of spectators of all ages. Different languages, different puppet techniques and different approaches to puppetry art have placed the international festival Mini Summer among events contributing to a richer and more vibrant cultural landscape of Ljubljana and Slovenia.

Ana Desetnica International Street Theatre Festival 24. 6. 2017–8. 7. 2017

It was the year 1998 when Ana Desetnica came to Ljubljana and Maribor streets. Prior to that, the organization of the association ŠKUC-Forum and Ana Monro Theatre already hosted the theatre festivals and guest performances of foreign theatres in Slovenia, within the framework of the Spring Festival (1979-1981) and the Summer before Metalko (1985-1987), a section of the road-theatre program. He also had the Festival Lent. Only Ana Desetnica had the true form of the organized festival and in 2017, it will be 20 years since they have been building such a dialogue with the space and with the audience in the GAM. During this period, the Festival of Ana Desetnica has greatly expanded its frames and became an all-Slovenian festival, which at the end of June and early July now traditionally announces the beginning of a real summer, that is, holidays and holidays in more than 10 cities throughout Slovenia.

PUF Festival 6. 7. 2017–27. 8. 2017

The Primorska Street Festival PUF (Primorsko ulično gledališče) is an annual international street theatre and puppet festival, which takes place on the Slovene coast. It is organised by Lutkarnica - Koper Puppetry Studio since 2003. The PUF actually had started off some years before, as a part of the Primorska Summer Festival organised annually in the Coastal Region. For some years, while it was presented jointly with the Alpe-Adria Working Community, its title was Alpe Adria PUF Festival. The festival presents street musicians, pantomime, clowns, acrobats, and jugglers, with a special focus on puppetry.

Puppet Theatre Maribor organizes The Summer Puppet Pier, a popular international puppet festival. The original idea at the Puppet Theatre Maribor under artistic director Tine Varl of bringing the Summer Puppet Pier to life was to organize a rich and outstanding variety of puppetry events during the summer holidays. The festival hosted performances from all over the world, including China, Japan, Thailand, the United States, Mexico, Chile, Colombia, Brazil, Iran, Israel, and most European countries, while also hosting a yearly selection of the best Slovenian puppetry performances. Time-wise, the festival gradually transformed from an all-summer event into the more condensed form it holds today, including Saturdays in August and the event-packed last weekend of the month when most of the festival happenings take place.

International festival Mladi levi is one of the more prominent annual events of the Bunker Institute, bringing the most current stage performers from all over the world to Ljubljana every end of the summer. It bears a mark of a demanding artistic profile, placed within the arena of contemporary progressive theatre and takes pride in its reputation for discovering young talents. The Festival has a distinctive atmosphere, marked with creativity and vibrant spirit, curious audience and social nature. Festival Mladi levi inhabits a place of encounters and surprises, continuously opening up to foreign artists and guests, who take pleasure in art and spread contemporary artistic or social topics in front of one another. It is a place of exchange as well as a cradle of new ideas, friendships and co-operations, which frequently extend beyond the local concepts or borders in the process of their growth.

As a central national festival, the biennial aims to present Slovenian puppetry to the broader domestic and foreign expert public (selectors, organizers and directors of foreign festivals and theatres, theatre critics and other members of the interested public), enable an exchange of knowledge and experience, showcase the most interesting content, and to award the best creations. It is both a festival and a promotion of puppetry arts. The Slovene Puppetry Biennial was launched in 2001 by the Puppetry Creators Institute (ULU) in place of the earlier puppetry festival, Klemenčič's Days. Featuring both major puppetry institutions and small puppetry groups from Slovenia, it includes small- and large-scale performances aimed at an adult audience, several based on classic literary texts. An expert jury confers the Slovene Puppetry Biennial Prizes. The accompanying programme includes exhibitions of puppets, sketches, stage sets and photo documentation, plus some additional high-quality performances aimed at young audiences.

CoFestival 16. 9. 2017–24. 9. 2017

CoFestival, the international contemporary dance festival, emerged from the final productions titled Short Cuts and made in the course of the education cycle of the Nomad Dance Academy taking place in 2008 and 2010 in Ljubljana. Because the short cuts spontaneously acquired the form of broadened international festival programme, they decided to organise Pleskavica festival in 2011; the hall and other rooms of Tabor Secondary School Student Residence hosted 36 foreign artists and experts active in the field of contemporary choreographic practices. Pleskavica 2011 initiated an original, participatory and inclusive form of festival programme and choreographic work on the margins of dramatic financial cuts in the cultural budget. In 2012, they thus had to link several festivals and international programmes from the field of contemporary dance that they created or participated in: Pleskavica (Fičobalet and NDA Slovenia), Ukrep, festival of dance perspectives (PTL with Rok Vever, Sinja Ožbolt and Živa Brecelj), EDN network activity with European project Modul Dance (Kino Šiška with Goran Bogdanovski, Mitja Bravhar and Simon Kardum), and activities of the regional network Nomad Dance Academy (Dragana Alfirević, Dejan Srhoj, Goran Bogdanovski, Jasmina Založnik and Rok Vever). The result was CoFestival, which underwent modest growth and changes in 2012 and 2014 and consolidated in 2015 into the true and serious international contemporary dance festival.

Schimmelpfennig contributed the tragicomical drama Peggy Pickit Sees the Face of God to the African Trilogy, a drama project of different authors, that thematises the complex relationship between Africa and the West. In these relationships that are too cruel and too complicated to be transformed into dramatic art, the author searches for a person. What theatre does best, is give a name and a human face to the theory and operation of global economic structures. In this case, the faces belong to two little girls we only see through the eyes of four adult westerners, and through the girls’ toys.

A short presentation of the producer:
We have a dream to strive for the best, because we bear the name of the greatest Slovenian poet France Prešeren (1800-1849). The same way as our great poet was 200 years ago, we are on the pendulum between yearning and cruel reality; between intimate, poetical themes and the social critique of reality. Although we are a repertory theatre we are not afraid of bold actions. We are recognizable by thematically provocative, aesthetically innovative and socially engaged performances.

Helver's night is an intimate drama about an unusual couple, mentally handicapped Helver and his resigned foster mother Karla. They live in a small apartment, in the dusk, poverty, loneliness, surrounded with the fanatic Nazism, which is invading from the streets to their home. Ideology of evil invades with all brutality into their intimate world and complicated relationship between Helver and Carla. Drama written by the polish writer Jarosław Świerszcz, known as Ingmar Villqist, is a metaphysical reflection of anger and despair with the inevitable threat of Nazism.

A short description of the performance:
The question posed by the play is whether we are creating our own freedom, and whether we can deconstruct its limitations in any way. The answer is being sought by exploring movement, which is subject to senses and perception, and by creating space and time that form their own logic and narrative, and are partly determined by the characteristics of the underlying literary material.

A short description of the performance:
Somewhere Else is a performance with a topic that is usually not easy to speak about. It tells us about a little Girl, who finds herself in the heart of war. Threatening planes are flying over the city, the streets are empty, and there is no food left on the shelves in the store. The school is closed. And every now and then gunshots are heard nearby. Her environment has gradually changed. It became intolerable. The Girl dreams of leaving to the countryside, where she could have a better life. She wants to go somewhere else, far away from the horrors of war. »I woke up this morning, brushed my teeth, as usually, had my breakfast and went to school. Everything was as usual. And only yesterday I was playing in the yard with my friends. Everything is different now. I can't go to the yard any more. It is too dangerous. And when I hear the thunder, my mommy and I have to run to the basement. I even don't see my friends any more. And the school is over. They shut it down.«

How do the horrors of war look like through children’s eyes? Only through this perspective can we fully understand the absurdity of the violence of war and the vulnerability of each individual. Somewhere Else is a deeply moving story about the absurdity of war and its cruelty. Therefore it is quite essential to tell all about it to our youngest viewers. Since the topic of the absurdity of war is quite delicate and painful, it often remains untold.

A short description of the performance:
The intrigue of a father whose daughter refuses to be obedient, a confrontation of two rivals of the underground and the public order guardian who wavers between the two, as well as the involvement of a former (dis)enchanted mistress into a love triangle – this salacious story from the world of crime and prostitution was a means for the playwright John Gay to draw a complex political satire about the corrupt English society at the beginning of the 18th century. Inspired by Gay’s play and later adaptations, director Vito Taufer, with creative ensemble, created his own script.

A short presentation of the producer:
We have a dream to strive for the best, because we bear the name of the greatest Slovenian poet France Prešeren (1800-1849). The same way as our great poet was 200 years ago, we are on the pendulum between yearning and cruel reality; between intimate, poetical themes and the social critique of reality. Although we are a repertory theatre we are not afraid of bold actions. We are recognizable by thematically provocative, aesthetically innovative and socially engaged performances.

A short description of the performance:
Society and life itself are being globalized, monoculture is on the march. Capitalist systems and American pop culture are spreading into every corner of the world. What happened with society, with human? How to present the ideational power of ironically-satiric attitude towards man and society to the spectator?
For starters let’s make fun of human weaknesses and dystopian society! But at the same time let’s question and request and question again our values, let’s seek utopia and interhuman confections.

A short description of the performance:
The INVASION is a mixture of visual performance and unconventional interaction between audience and actors, an exiting new expression based on non-verbal physical theater and site-specific live compositions. The main focus of the project is examining questions of multicultural societies and the conventions of behavior in the public space. Through a light and playful narrative (pink intergalactic immigrants from outer space accidentally landing on our planet) we are inviting the audience to react spontaneously, play and actively confront their own personal xenophobia.
